Press Convention To Be Statewide

Division Established For Mimeographed High School Papers

Once restricted to Catholic high schools of northern California, the annual press convention to be held here on April 23rd, under the sponsorship of the COLLEGIAN and department of journalism, has expanded to include schools throughout the state.

This year, for the first time, a division has been created for high schools publishing mimeographed papers. Invitations have been sent to 70 boys' and girls' high schools. To date 20 institutions have signified their intention of entering their publications in the trophy competition.

Long Distance Entry

A long distance entry was received here from Villanova Prep School, conducted by The Augustinian Fathers, at Ojai, California. Four students and a moderator will make the trip from the southern California town.

The entire student body of Villanova Prep School, numbers but 20 students, according to Reverend Luke J. Sweeney, O.S.A., who answered the invitation to participate in the press convention.

Trophies will be awarded to publications winning first and second places in the boys' and girls' divisions. A plaque will be presented to the winner of the mimeograph division.

President's Day Not To Be Observed This Semester

President's Day, scheduled for April 28, will not be observed this year, it was announced by Brother Albert, president of the college, following a meeting of the president's council this week.

Nearness of the date to events in the jubilee celebration, and a conflict with the date of the senior retreat made cancellation of President's Day necessary, Brother Albert stated.

First Friday Mass Celebrated Here This Morning

With the entire student body in attendance, first Friday Mass was celebrated this morning in the college chapel.

Father Joseph I. Manning, student chaplain, was the celebrant. The traditional guard of honor for the Blessed Sacrament was maintained yesterday, followed by benediction in the evening.

Breakfast was served to boarders and day students after the Mass.

Touring Debaters Meet OSC On Labor Topic

Bourne and Riley Argue With Oregon Team Over Radio

Meeting Oregon State college in a radio deate Tuesday night, the Saint Mary's touring debaters finished the second leg of the northwest tour.

Debating against Edward Burke and John Ringe, Bill Bourne and Wyman Riley upheld the negative of the national question, Resolved: That the national labor relations board be empowered to arbitrate all industrial disputes. The debate was broadcast throughout Oregon and Washington by radio station KOAC at Corvallis.

Uphold Government Control

Oregon state debaters, who will be in California during the next week, upheld government control while Saint Mary's debaters stressed the right of labor to organize and strike, maintaining that labor should be allowed to get its demands through a united front.

At Humboldt state college, where Lawrence Mana and Wyman Riley met William Jarbo and Carl Emeneager on the first debate of the tour, the question of CIO vs. AFL was argued.

Debate on CIO

Saint Mary's upheld the negative of the question, Resolved: That this house favors the principles and practices of the AFL over those of the CIO.

Feature of the debate was the open forum preceding the final summary. Arguments from the floor lasted for three-quarters of an hour. CIO representatives present added arguments to the case for Saint Mary's.

The audience, voting on its sentiments, preferred the AFL to the CIO. The debate was not to a decision, but merely a debate in which ideas were exchanged between debaters and audience, with the audience allowed to express its opinion and preference.

Late Flash

Saint Mary's touring senior debaters met Pacific university, Forest Grove, last Wednesday night, upholding the affirmative of the national question.

Lawrence Mana and William Bourne made up the local team, which opposed the Pacific university squad of Frank Roberts and James Shick.

An unusual feature of the debate was a critical comment by Charles Redding, Portland attorney, who discussed the strong and weak points of both sides. The negative was praised for its thorough topic coverage and the local squad for its effective presentation.

Catholic Educator To Deliver Civic Day Address

Will Be Speaker At Banquet In San Francisco

Saint Mary's Diamond Jubilee celebration moves one step closer to its grand climax on May 14 and 15, with the holding of the civic banquet in San Francisco on April 19.

The Very Reverend Arthur A. O'Leary, S. J., president of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., is coming to the Pacific Coast at the specific invitation of Brother Albert, president of the college, to deliver the Civic Day address.

To Broadcast Talk

The banquet is to be held on the evening of the 19th under the auspices of the San Francisco unit of the alumni association, the Saint Mary's club, and friends of the college.

Father O'Leary's talk will be broadcast during the course of the banquet, being the feature event of the evening.

The Georgetown University president will be the third prominent figure to appear at jubilee year events. Preceding him were Monroe E. Duetsch, provost and vice-president of the University of California, and His Excellency, the Most Reverend James E. Walsh, D.D., M.M., Superior General of Maryknoll Foreign Missions, and Titular Bishop of Sata, Asia.

Distinguished Speakers

Following Father O'Leary in the list of distinguished speakers will be the Right Reverend Monsignor Peter Guilday, of Catholic University of America, who will speak at the occasion of the formal exercises at the 75th commencement on May 15.

The Georgetown University president was born in Washington, D. C., September 27, 1887. He graduated from Woodstock College in Maryland with an A.B. degree in 1910, M.A. in 1911.

He was ordained a Roman Catholic priest June 28, 1919, at Georgetown University, and elected president of the same university and chairman of the board of regents July 2, 1935.

Father O'Leary is active in the Knights of Columbus, fourth degree.

Loan Fund Will Be Discontinued, Says Chaplain

Because several students have failed to comply with agreements made, the student loans will be temporarily discontinued, Father Joseph I. Manning, chaplain, announced.

The custom of lending money to students was established by Father Benjamin Bowling, former student chaplain. After a short discontinuance it was revived last semester by Father Manning with the announcement that the Damien Institute, YMI, of San Francisco, would back the fund in the future.

Philosophy Medal Examination Date Set for April 26

To determine the winner of the Connolly Philosophy medal, an examination open to all graduating seniors will be held on Tuesday afternoon, April 26, the registrar's office announced last night.

The Connolly medal is a gold award founded by a friend in memory of the late Right Reverend Monsignor Michael D. Connolly of the class of 1878.

All seniors interested in taking the examination are requested to contact Prof. James L. Hagerty, examiner.

Brick Pile to Make Final Appearance Late This Month

Final issue of the Brick Pile will roll off the press between April 20 and 23, Paul Johnson, editor of the literary magazine, has announced.

Included in the numerous articles of the next edition will be an interview with Joe McAleese, a prominent alumnus well known in yachting circles. Charles Carroll will handle this interview.

Jack Reilley's last "Its This Way" will appear in the closing issue as usual.

James Brady, senior, will write an article on the ins and outs of the hotel business. A book review will also appear.

San Francisco Hotel Chosen as Site Of Senior Ball

The Hotel Sir Francis Drake in San Francisco was selected this week as the site for the annual Senior Ball, according to Chairman Phillip Isham. In selecting the Drake, also the site of last year's successful ball, Isham stated that it was the committee's opinion that a more central location would be favored by class members, as well as alumni, over other sites farther away. The orchestra has not been chosen as yet, he said.

Permanent Minor Sports Program Assured Here

Athletic Director To Cooperate, Ex Council Told

Appointment of a permanent minor sports director was assured this week by the Board of Athletic Control and Coach E. P. Madigan, director of physical education, it was revealed this week in a report given before the executive council.

Financial Aid Promised

Financial aid will be forthcoming to the sports of boxing, tennis, golf, and swimming, it was reported by Bill Bettencourt, junior representative. Track, for the present, will be confined to an intramural activity, with promises for its revival later. Extent of financing by the Board of Athletic Control, will be approximately two-thirds to three-fourths of the particular sport's needs, it was learned. The remainder will have to be raised by the particular sports.

Director Not Named

The permanent director, who will supervise the individual sport managers, has not yet been named, but the post is expected to be filled by one of the members of the coaching staff. "Red" Strader or Edward Erdelatz are eligible. Under the plan there will be appointed or elected a student manager for each of the minor sports.

Stresses Reasons

In reading the report, Bettencourt stated that minor sports situation had been in better condition this year than

Success of Debate Tourney Assured

Thirty Teams to Take Part in Forensic Meet on April 12

Success of the high school debate tournament which the APGU will sponsor on April 12 was practically assured this week with the announcement by Jack Williams that over thirty teams have definitely decided to attend.

Among the high schools which have signed are Saint Elizabeth's, Oakland; Notre Dame, Alameda; Saint Vincent's, Vallejo; Christian Brothers high, Sacramento; Saint Mary's high, Presentation academy, Oakland; and Sacred Heart, Saint Ignatius, and Notre Dame des Victoure in San Francisco.

All schools contacted to date have shown interest in the project and many favorable replies have been received.

In keeping with the idea of making Saint Mary's debate headquarters for all the high schools in the state, a permanent correspondence service for high schools will be inaugurated. Information and advice will be given to debate squads throughout the state.

Auxiliary Chapter Of News Guild May Form Here

Organization here of an auxiliary chapter of the American Newspaper Guild, similar to the branch recently formed at San Francisco State College is not unlikely.

Complete information regarding the formation of a Guild group here has been requested by John Henning, ASSMC secretary.

Students planning to enter newspaper work would do well to join the Guild, Henning pointed out, since all the daily papers in this area have labor agreements with the Guild. Dues would be five cents a month.

YMI President To Address Possible Members

William J. Murphy, grand president of the YMI, will speak before interested boarders and day students next Thursday evening in the lounge. He will outline plans for the formation of a local YMI council.

Murphy will be presented with a petition signed by students interested in a campus organization of the kind.

Accompanying Murphy will be Dennis Lucey, grand secretary of the Institution, Joseph O'Donnell, '89; Edward Cone, '32; and Clarence Dowdall, '35. These men are all prominent YMI members in the East Bay and are interested in the local council. Lucey and O'Donnell left the blank petitions with Thomas Twomey, assistant recorder, Tuesday.

Boarders will meet Monday evening in the lounge at 8:00 to sign the petition. Day students will meet for the same reason, Tuesday, in D113 at 12:20. Those unable to attend either meeting can see Twomey in the recorder's office.

Date for Student Body Elections Is Selected

Seniors to Ballot While Attending Annual Banquet

Student body officials for the 1938 39 year will be elected on Wednesday, April 27.

The senior class will cast their votes while at the traditional senior retreat, it was decided by the student affairs committee which met Friday. Ballots will not be counted until the day following the election when the seniors return to the campus.

Nominations for student body posts will be made Tuesday, April 19. Campaign speeches and platforms will be presented to the students by the candidates on Thursday, April 21.

Russo Conceded Post

To avoid another election prior to the opening of football season, the committee decided that assistants to Ernie Russo, head yell leader for the 1938-39 year, should be elected at the same time as ASSMC officials.

Assistants must be junior class members, the committee ruled, so that the post of head yell leader would be elective. Russo was conceded the yell leader position by the committee because he was the only junior assistant working with Ed La Berge, present yell king. The other assistant was Dick Moore, a senior.

Tryouts for Yell Posts to Be Held At Student Meeting

Tryouts for the positions of assistant yell leaders will be held at the student body nominations meeting, Edward La Berge, yell leader for the past year, stated yesterday.

Assistants will be elected at the same time that other ASSMC officials are chosen.

Workouts with the assistants will be held following the election, so that the new men will be familiar with the yells and procedure, LaBerge stated.

Candidates for the position of assistant yell leader must come from the present sophomore class according to the provisions of the ASSMC constitution, LaBerge added.

A notice concerning the place and time of the sign-up for candidates will be on the bulletin board next week.

Annual Clean-up Day Slated for Monday, April 25

Campus clean-up day has been set for Monday, April 25, Brother Albert, president of the college, said yesterday. A chairman for the day has not been selected as yet.

Students will be assigned to projects under the direction of their religion instructors, as has been the custom in past years.

Following the clean-up program in the morning, all students will lunch in the college dining hall.

Collegian

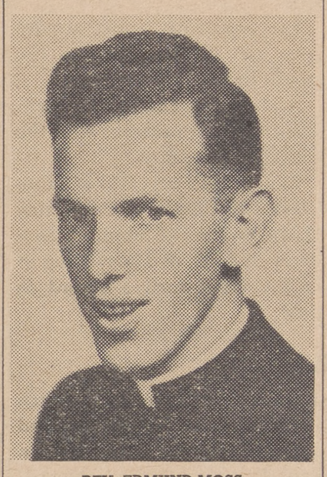
All staff members must be present at the COLLEGIAN meeting Monday, at 12:20 o'clock in G-110.

Priests of Archdiocese Will Be Feted at Padre Day Celebration Next Tuesday

Rev. Edmund Moss '32 to Celebrate Mass Here Shortly After Being Ordained to Priesthood

In an expression of gratitude for all that they have done to prosper the work of the Christian Brothers, priests of the archdiocese will be feted in a Padre Day on the Campus Tuesday.

A solemn Mass of Thanksgiving will be offered at 10:30 by Reverend Edmund Moss, graduate of 1932, and newly ordained priest of tomorrow.



REV. EDMUND MOSS

Reverend Mr. Edmund Moss, '32, who will be ordained a priest tomorrow, will return to campus on Tuesday to celebrate one of his first Solemn Masses.

The clergy are expected from all points in Central California, as far north as Sacramento and as far south as Modesto.

Deacon of the Mass will be Reverend Dennis Moore whose brother is in the present junior class at Saint Mary's. Reverend John Tierney will assist as subdeacon. The latter is brother of Joseph Tierney who graduated with the class of '31. Reverend Richard H. Hamond, professor of homeletics at Saint Patrick's Seminary, Menlo Park, will deliver the sermon. The Student Brothers' choir, directed by Reverend Jean M. Ribeyron, will sing.

Arch Priest Named

Arch-priest of the Padre Day Mass will be Right Reverend Monsignor William Sullivan, pastor of Most Holy Redeemer Church, San Francisco. Monsignor Sullivan is a former Saint Mary's student. Reverend Joseph Coakley, assistant pastor of Saint Joseph's Church, San Francisco, and also an alumnus, will act as master of ceremonies.

The Mass, beginning at 10:30, will be followed by lunch for the visiting priests, in the dining hall.

Scrimmage Set

A football scrimmage, baseball game, and other events will comprise the athletic program which has been arranged for the afternoon.

The Reverend Father Moss was born in Oakland, December 28, 1910, the son of Anne and George Moss. Educated at Claremont grammar school and Oakland Technical high, he then worked for over a year with the Southern Pacific Railways in the office of auditor of freight accounts.

With the first freshman class to enter the new Moraga plant, Moss enrolled in September, 1928. He was a day student during his first two years.

As a student journalist he was editor of the 1931 Gael; for two years president of the now defunct Press Club in which he introduced the annual press convention for Catholic high schools; and associate editor of the Collegian in his senior year.

"Ecce Homo" Cast Is Announced By Drama Head

Ten to Participate In Local Production Of Passion Play

The complete cast of the play "Ecce Homo" which is to be presented on April 11 was announced this week by Mr. William Simon, dramatics coach.

Ten students will have roles in the passion play written by Brother Leo. Henry Nuetzel, senior, will have the leading role, that of Pontius Pilate. William Kirkham will be Prodicus and Peter Cassady will play Salathiel. Frank Soares and Donald Miller will play James and Longimus. Other roles will be filled by Herb Smith as Edras, Joseph McCarthy as Naphthalim, Frank Freitas as David, Frank Sanders as Dormus, and James Butler as a slave.

Joseph McCarthy, junior, has been appointed general manager in charge of the production. He will be assisted by Peter LoBianco in charge of art, Jack Williams in charge of lighting, and Coleman Kezeli in charge of stage fixtures.

Present plans call for production of the play in the gymnasium, with an admittance charge of 25 cents for students and 40 cents for outsiders.

The fact that the play is entirely a "home" production was emphasized by Simon in announcing his plans. The play is written by a member of the college faculty, the cast is composed entirely of students, and both lighting and scenery are being taken care of by student talent.

Sophomores Elect LoBianco Editor Of 1939 Gael

Peter LoBianco, COLLEGIAN staff artist, was elected the new Gael editor at a meeting held last Monday.

The election was decisively in favor of LoBianco. Others nominated were Frank Soares, Zachary Montgomery, Edward English, and Joseph Potstata.

Brother Albert, president of the college, spoke to the class briefly about the Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Tentative plans were made for a class picnic to be held sometime after Easter. Leo Cooney, William Spehar, August Gasper, David Cunningham, and Leo Doyle were appointed by President William Fitzgerald to investigate the affair.

A whiskerino contest was proposed and August Gasper was appointed to investigate plans for such a contest.

Another Mock Trial Being Considered By Law Club

Flushed with the success of the Hilken mock trial, the Pre-Legal Society is to sponsor another after the Easter recess, it was revealed yesterday by Leo Lippincott, president of the society.

A new constitution was drawn up at the meeting Tuesday.

Gael Gossip

by Jim Brady, Collegian Sports Editor

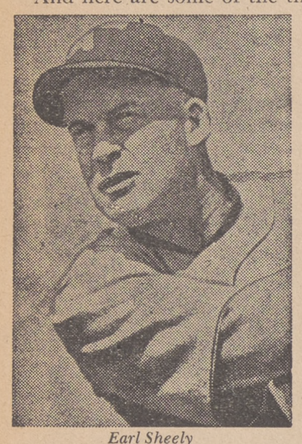
That Moraga nobleman, the Earl Sheely, won the respect of some six thousand fans at Edwards stadium last Saturday. His gentlemanly demeanor as he explained to the umpire what he thought was right evidently impressed that arbiter no end and the decision rendered was in favor of the Phoenix.

Sheely makes very infrequent trips from the dugout during a season's play, but he makes his few trips mean something.

All-Time Honors for the Earl

DID YOU KNOW that last week Earl Sheely was chosen all-time Pacific Coast league first baseman by Bill Schroeder of the Helms athletic foundation?

And here are some of the things he did while in active service:



Earl Sheely

In ten years in the Coast league he never batted under .300.

He led the league in batting two years, with marks of .371 and .403.

He consistently fielded around .990, and one year headed the circuit in that department.

And on top of all this, he spent seven successful seasons with the Chicago White Sox.

Can Justin Fitzgerald of Santa Clara, Clint Evans of California, Harry Wolters of Stanford, Sam Barry of USC, or Marty Krug of UCLA boast such a record as this?

"Ma" Owens, the Invincible

AT THE California game last week, one crackpot elected to match wits with "Ma" Owens, rabid Saint Mary's rooter, but she matched barb with barb, and along about the ninth he was forced into an abashed silence. This mistress of the art of repartee does a lot toward keeping our ball players on their toes.

They say that while most of the cheering is an indistinguishable blur out on the field, "Ma's" strident tones carry out to them as clearly as if she were the only one in the stands.

Loyola to Dress Up

Word comes from Loyola university of Los Angeles that next year the Lion gridders will be decked out in green silk panties with shamrock's on the jerseys a la Saint Mary's.

We hope Loyola has better luck than the Galloping Gaels had with their emerald green outfits, the latter team failing to win a single game while wearing them.

Loyola, which has failed to win an athletic contest from Saint Mary's, places four men on the all-coast hockey team, the other two places going to the University of Southern California. The time is ripe for the entrance of the Moraga school into the field.

Athletic Department Comes Through

THE BOXING team, until last week without any equipment outside of a ring, was the recipient of enough funds from the athletic department to get not only gloves, but shoes, punching bags, and other fistic accoutrement. The pugilists are now all set to go into action at the first opportunity.

The boys to watch are Jack Williams, Pete Sedar, and Joe McGrath. These three have not only had ring experience in California and Wyoming amateur circles, but have held top honors in their divisions.

Next year's coast tournament should see several Saint Mary's youths emerging as victors.

Items . . .

Cy Greenlaw's infected finger, which was causing plenty of long faces around the campus, is coming along nicely, and will not impede his pitching.

The Ulster drill team, which won top honors at the Eire Oge field day, has not as yet received the cup which they were supposed to be awarded.

Herm Meister, former Gael tackle, reports that he has a grid prospect for the Gallopers on his Napa high team.

Off Campus—We take the St. Louis Browns to make the most improvement of any major league team this season, and the New York Giants to take a nose-dive into the second division. Watch and see!

Varsity Cagers Awarded Blocks

Nine varsity cagers have been rewarded for services during the past season by being selected as block winners. The announcement came from the Athletic office, whence it was likewise learned that six freshmen received basketball numerals.

Hastened by the impending initiation, the list was posted this week and measurements for sweaters were taken Wednesday.

Four of the seniors eligible for jackets are: Warren Jenkins, "Swede" Anderson, Larry Minahen and Gene McSweeney; while the remaining merit sweaters: Julie Lyons, Kenny Meitz, Al Andrade, Norman MacPhail and Tom Feeney.

Freshmen winners are: "Lefty" Johnson, Hal Woods, Pete Spielly, Jack Hatchett, Carl Kaiser and Joe Aquirre.

Three of the varsity winners since they have earned their first sweater, became eligible for the Block SM initiation to be held next week. They are Lyons, MacPhail and Feeney.

Erdelatz Calls Boxing Meeting

In an attempt to further the interest in boxing on the campus, Coach Eddie Erdelatz held a meeting last Wednesday with his aspirants.

Coach Erdelatz is attempting to line up a smoker with the Olympic Club of San Francisco to be held on the campus. Money which is made off the smoker will be used to buy the necessary equipment for the fighters to train. At the present time hand raps are needed and punching bags to get the boxers in shape.

Boxing gloves have been secured and there are two sets. One set is sixteen ounces and the others are ten ounces.

Hardest job for Coach Erdelatz at the present time is to find boxers to compete in the lighter divisions. There are a number of good heavyweight prospects on the campus but few lighter men. Another obstacle which is hindering the boxers is the fact that with spring practice on, the football players will have to work out at night.

Phoenix Split With Stanford; Capture Series

Merrill Sets Down Indians With 5 Hits; O'Neill Loses

In two games with Stanford this week, all the Phoenix were able to get was an even break, winning 14-1 and losing 6-5, to remain in third place in the conference race. By virtue of their victory the Phoenix captured the series, two games to one.

Harry "Bud" Merrill let the Indians down with 5 hits and 1 run Wednesday for his second conference victory of the season. Meanwhile, the "slugger's row" pounded Glenn Hamilton and "Spike" Furman for 17 hits and 14 runs.

Boehle Clouts Homer

Numerous errors were committed by the Indian nine which helped the Gaels to raise their run total. Feature of the game was the long distance hitting of Tony Boehle, Phoenix catcher, and Gene Sullivan, outfielder, who clouted a home run and triple respectively. Standouts for the Phoenix were Jim Robertson, first baseman, and "Bing" Miller, each collecting three bingles out of five trips to the plate.

For Stanford Tom Killefer, first baseman, led the stickmen with two hits out of as many times at bat.

Tuesday at Palo Alto, the Indians pushed two runs across in the ninth inning to overcome the Phoenix, and capture the tilt, 6 to 5. With bases loaded, two men out, and a tie score, Jimmy Coffis, left fielder, drove a line single through shortstop to score the winning run after the Indians had trailed all the way.

Coffis Collects Four

Coffis led the Stanford batsmen with four bingles out of six trips to the plate, while Norm Juney had three for four. "Bud" Lazzarone performed the mound chores, letting the Phoenix down with eight hits while striking out six.

Emmett "Bones" O'Neill, sophomore right-hander, pitched for the Gaels, but was a little wild on the mound, issuing 11 walks, but striking out nine. He was in trouble nearly every inning because of his wildness.

Getting two hits out of four times at bat, Al Lingua, speedy catcher, led the Phoenix stickers. One of his hits was a triple. Sullivan also collected a triple, while O'Neill and Robertson were the only Gaels to go hitless.

Tuesday:	R.	H.	E.
Saint Mary's	5	8	4
Stanford	6	10	0

Batteries—O'Neill and Lingua; Lazzarone and Jameson.

Wednesday:	R.	H.	E.
Stanford	1	5	3
Saint Mary's	14	17	0

Batteries: Hamilton, Furman, and Jameson; Merrill and Boehle.

Gaelets Trim Santa Clara Frosh

Saint Mary's baseball field wasn't the only thing swamped Sunday morning, for the Gaelet baseball team swamped their Peninsula rivals, the Santa Clara Colts by a score of 12 to 4.

Saint Mary's frosh took advantage of the early wildness of Colt pitcher Echenique and miscues of his teammates in the first two innings of the ball game, to cinch the tilt.

Earle Johnson, Saint Mary's ace chucker, was never in danger throughout the game. Although a bit wild, he fanned sixteen men and allowed only six scattered hits.

Ken Sanders led the Saint Mary's batsmen with four hits, while Johnson, shortstop of the Colts, collected three hits in five trips to the plate to lead the invaders.

The batteries for Saint Mary's were Johnson and Denneson; for Santa Clara, Echinique and Hanna.

U. S. C. Leads Cal. In C. A. B. A. Title Race

USC is now in undisputed possession of first place in the CIBA race, with five wins and one loss for a .833 percentage. Close on their heels come the Bears with six victories out of eight starts. In third place are the Phoenix with a .571 average, the result of 4 wins balanced against 3 losses.

Outstanding feature of the past week was the sudden drop of the Phoenix from first to third place, where they must make a comeback to win the title.

Down in Los Angeles, Santa Clara continued its old habit of losing by dropping all four of its conference tilts. They engaged in two extra-inning affairs with the Trojans but were outlucked, 3 to 2 in ten innings, and 6 to 5 in 12 frames. UCLA captured two slugfests from the Broncos, 11 to 8 and 13 to 9.

Next week's calendar shows a full schedule with UCLA making a tour of the north. Tuesday, they meet the Phoenix on the Moraga diamond, while on Wednesday they encounter California at Edwards field.

The Broncs are their rivals on Thursday and they end up by meeting Stanford on Friday, April 8. Other tilts on the schedule will see the Phoenix facing Santa Clara tomorrow while on Tuesday the Broncos encounter Stanford.

Conference standings follow:

	W.	L.	Pct.
USC	5	1	.833
California	6	2	.750
Saint Mary's	4	3	.571
UCLA	3	3	.500
Stanford	3	5	.375
Santa Clara	0	6	.000

The Saint Mary's Phoenix will face U. C. L. A. on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Moraga.

Campus Italians Annex Victory

Winning their second basketball game in as many starts, the local Dante Club defeated the San Francisco Junior College Italian Club by a 54-52 score, Tuesday night, in Madigan Gym.

The game was a fast, rough and tumble one with the lead changing hands throughout the game. At one time the JC Italian Club was out in front by an eight point margin.

Outstanding players for the Dante Club were Art Petri and Charles Nanfito. Gilbert McKinley and G. Nicco played heads-up ball for the losers.

HESTER AGAIN POOL CHAMP

Dick Hester, Oakland Junior, successfully defended his title as pool champ in playoff this week. Playing the best two out of three matches, Hester easily defeated Bill Lawlor for his second successive title.

In the semi-final matches, Hester defeated Pat Horan, while Lawlor was defeating Owens. Lawlor, a dark horse of the tournament, swept through all his opposition and was given a good chance to defeat Hester, but he was an easy victim.

The tournament was adjudged the most successful in recent years, according to Julian (Hoppe) Lyons, tournament manager.

Gael Golfers Meet Dons Tomorrow

Playing their first home match of the season, the Saint Mary's golf team will act as hosts for the league leading University of San Francisco Dons, in a match to be played tomorrow on the Tilden greens.

Qualifying rounds for the second half of the golf schedule were played Thursday, the results of which were not available.

Conference standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
USF	3	0	1000
San Jose	3	0	1000
Saint Mary's	1	3	.250
Santa Clara	0	4	.000

In a match played Wednesday at the Ingleside greens at San Francisco, the Gael golfers suffered a 9-0 defeat at the hands of the University of San Francisco Dons, who won their third consecutive league match.

Two matches were played last Saturday at the Hillside greens at San Jose with the Gaels coming out on the short end of both encounters. San Jose won the first match 8-1½ and won the second also 8½-½.

Robert Blair and Con Catterlin made the points in the first match, while Bill Dooms and Bill Glackin made the ½ point in the second.

Tennis Team Plays Spartans

San Jose state Spartan netmen will be the next opponents for the Saint Mary's tennis team in a match to take place tomorrow on the San Jose courts. The Spartans last Saturday defeated San Francisco state, the team which defeated the Gaels, 5-4.

Two other matches were scheduled for the coming week, according to Harry Hooper, tennis manager.

Another match with the San Mateo JC netmen has been arranged, to take place Monday on the junior college courts. The JC netmen have twice swamped the Gael tennis team, 7-0 and 7-1.

Next Wednesday the Gael netmen will play hosts to the Broncos of Santa Clara, in their first match of the annual series. The Broncos are tied with the Gaels for the cellar position of the league.

Traveling to San Francisco Wednesday the Gael netmen met defeat at the hands of the University of San Francisco in a match played on the Palace of Fine Arts courts, 8-1.

The only victory for the Gaels came when Harry Hooper and Georgie McPeake beat Dapillo and Regan 6-1, 6-0.

Other results were: Tom Clecak (USF) d. Harry Hooper (SM) 6-0, 6-2; Johnny Lang (USF) d. Bud Namanny (SM) 6-2, 6-0; Bill Herbert (USF) d. Walt Webber (SM) 6-4, 2-6, 6-3; Ed Dapillo (USF) d. Toko Taira (SM) 8-6, 5-7, 7-5; Stan Hamilton (USF) d. Georgie McPeake (SM) 6-3, 6-4; Dick Tiernan (USF) d. Ed Murphy (SM) 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

Doubles: Lang and Herbert (USF) d. Taira and Webber (SM) 6-2, 6-2; McPeake and Hooper (SM) d. Dapillo and Regan (USF) 6-1, 6-0; Hamilton and Verve (USF) d. Namanny and Murphy (SM) 1-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Gael Yearlings Trim Spartanites

Blasting out sixteen hits the Saint Mary's frosh continued their winning streak by defeating the San Jose State freshmen at Spartan field last Tuesday, 17 to 3.

Wright, first baseman for the winners, relieved Gilbeau in the first inning after the latter injured his arm, and allowed only six hits, holding the Spartan frosh to three runs.

A home run, triple and double were hit by Ken Sanders to feature the batting of the Gaelets. Gilbeau also contributed a homer.

Phoenix Play Second Tilt With Broncos

Greenlaw or Jenkins To Pitch for Gaels Against Patterson

Gaels vs. Broncos again!

Tomorrow on the Saint Mary's diamond, the bitter rivals resume their feud. The Gaels have had a temporary lapse following the past Bear game, but are expected to shake the present slump at the expense of the cellarholders.

The temporary lapse is only natural after the disappointment of the crucial Bear series finale, however, in order to show up well in the league, the Gaels will have to snap out of the slump.

On the other hand, the Broncos though repulsed on their recent invasion of the South have improved considerably. It was only in extra inning games that the Trojans nosed them out.

Pitchers' Duel Unlikely

A pitcher's duel is unlikely tomorrow, since both clubs boast hitting strength.

The Saint Mary's hurlers are stronger, however, and in view of this are installed favorites in tomorrow's contest.

Comparing the infield and outfields, Saint Mary's is conceded the edge here, too. Mainly because of their experience and hitting power the Gael infield is superior.

Phoenix Outfield Strong

Out in the pastures, few schools can field an outfield units as strong as "Gabby" Stolich, Bill Murphy and Gene Sullivan. Combined hitting, fielding and throwing strength makes this group the best in the league.

Tomorrow, Saint Mary's must win in order to stay within reaching distance of the leaders, while Santa Clara is still awaiting its first league win.

A reputedly strong team faces an up and coming squad, and the result will either make or break the Gaels!

Probable starter on the mound for the Gaels is Cy Greenlaw, ace lefthander, who is still recovering from his long lay-off. However, should his infected finger hinder him, next in line is Warren Jenkins, heady senior hurler. Tony Boehle will be at the other end of the battery.

Patterson to Face Gaels

For Santa Clara, it is believed that George Patterson, the sophomore speed pitcher, will take over the mound duties. An early season injury slowed him up, but it is claimed that he is now rounding into condition. Jack Roche, footballer, undoubtedly will catch for the Missionites.

No changes are expected in the Gael line-up, however, Kenny Butler, utility man, may replace a player during the course of the game, and Ray Desimone, too, might see some action.

It is expected that Santa Clara's line-up will remain the same as that which has faced previous conference teams.

SHADOWING the GAELS

By Tom Feeney, Ass't. Sports Ed.

Two weeks, three practices!

It told on the Phoenix last week in the conference crucial against the Bears. The team lacked that ZIP which comes from continuous practices and games.

Too, the Bears had the benefit of games down South and the rain didn't affect their infield as much as ours, however, it's over and it was a good game!

Just as one of the leading sports writers of the bay area puts it:

"Nothing is wrong with college baseball, except they don't play enough." Rain, however, is an undeniable factor hindering the play.

College baseball draws such interest, because the rivalry between the schools incites the athletes to hustle and to beat the other.

The spirit is an unrelenting "do or die" attempt which spectators thrive on. Ordinary competition is sufficient to play well, but bitter or traditional rivalry creates that spirit or feeling around a game which makes a contest a stand-out.

Any Stanford vs. California game is always hard fought and the same is true of the Saint Mary's vs. Santa Clara contests. However, another rivalry has now taken a definite place in this list, i, e., Saint Mary's-California feuds. For a number of years it was only a football struggle, but in the past few years basketball and baseball have entered the field.

This year California took all the honors—football 30 to 7, basketball 40 to 28 and baseball the rubber contest of the series 12 to 9. Yet, in view of this we look to next year expectantly.

MINOR SPORTS BOOM!!!

This sudden boom of minor sports is not a Collegian inflation, but is actually spurred on by the athletic office.

The torch has been carried by the students in the past, but now the athletic office really intends to put the minor sports on as a permanent part of the athletic program.

Slip has suggested a plan whereby, next year, one of the coaches will be in control of all minor sports and work in conjunction with the manager of each acitvity. Too, the minor sports fund will be substantially increased and all the equipment and facilities will be placed in top condition.

Incidently, don't be too surprised if that supposedly far-fetched idea—ice hockey—becomes an actuality. It is a new deal for minor sports!

REVERSAL OF EXPECTATIONS

When Harry Hooper and Eddie Burns signed the entrance ledger, baseball hopes mounted higher. It was thought that surely they would follow their Dad's footsteps.

The elders, Hooper and Burns, belonged to the days when the Phoenix knocked over major leaguers regularly, and it wasn't unheard of, if a Gael graduate stepped right into fast company.

The youths, "Double fault" Hooper and "Super par" Burns, though brought up in a baseball atmosphere, reversed the "like father, like son" adage and have taken up tennis and golf in its place.

EVANS' IDIOSYNCRACIES!

In the middle of one of his vehement protests in last Bear-Gael game over a ground rule which he instituted, Evans suddenly stopped abruptly and said:

"I guess you really want to win this game, Sheely."

Earlier in the game, he was shouting and gesturing wildly at Umpire West's decision and threatened:

"You'll never umpire another game ————."

"In that case I might as well call it a day right now," retorted West, beginning to unstrap his chest protector.

"Oh no, oh no! Don't take me seriously. I was only kidding," came back Evans.

SPORTS CHAFF . . .

Snow White's Mate: Pinky Peterson, buxom tackle, who reminds his mates of Prince Charming in a helmet.

A MARY GOLD to Glen Sinnott for smacking the first Phoenix homer in the conference.

Cal Fielder In Conference Bat Lead

At the halfway mark in the California intercollegiate baseball race, Bud Winterbottom of California is leading the battery parade with an average of .518. Kenny Washington of UCLA is second with an even .500.

Sam Chapman, highly touted outfielder of the California Bears, is firmly entrenched in twenty-fifth spot with .286.

Cal Garners Series Final

Before 6000 wild-eyed baseball fans, Saint Mary's Phoenix dropped a 12-9 decision to California's Bears last Saturday.

Cy Greenlaw, Earl Sheely's ace hurler, developed an infected finger and was taken from the game after losing control in the sixth. Emmett O'Neill, who followed him, was also wild, and the game was finished by Warren Jenkins.

Bill Priest pitched the entire nine innings for California, although touched for eight timely hits and nine runs.

Glenn Sinnot, Gael third sacker, starred at bat although credited with only one hit. He hit a home run the first time at bat, and later on sent a screaming line drive to left field that was nullified by Winterbottom's circus catch. Gene Sullivan had two bingles to his credit.

New Plan Formed To Regulate Awards

Better System Suggested By Madigan in Meeting

By Bill Spehar

More organization in awarding Block SM sweaters!

This is the aim of Slip Madigan, athletic director, who proposed a new method to Harry Aronson, senior; Ken Meitz, junior, and Tom Feeney, sophomore, members of the varsity award committee, this week.

As suggested by Madigan the new plan provides that for each of the major sports—football, basketball, and baseball—a student will be elected by the student body to act as official timekeeper or scorer and, at the same time, record the number of minutes of competition of each athlete competing in that sport.

In football the individual will act as the official timekeeper and also record the athletes' minutes of participation; while in baseball and basketball he will be the official scorer besides recording the innings and minutes of competition.

Set Standard

Thus at the end of the season, the minutes of competition of each athlete will be available. A certain number of minutes or innings will be set as a standard. If the athlete has the required amount, he will be awarded his letter automatically.

Aside from his duties as official scorer and timekeeper, the student will have to send in scores of games, which have not been covered by reporters, to the newspapers. Such games are the basketball barnstorming tilts, and the non-conference baseball contests. The batting averages will also be part of the student's job in baseball.

What will the student receive for this work?

He will make all trips with the different squads except intersectional games such as the Fordham contest. In addition he will be rewarded with an SM sweater similar to that awarded to managers.

Purpose of System

The purpose of this new system is to regulate the awards, and to give each athlete a concrete idea of the number of minutes he has played in actual competition.

This system offers a contrast to the present method by which blocks are given. In football Jack Henning, Madigan's secretary, has represented the athletic office, and together with a member of the varsity award committee has kept track of the minutes.

The recommendation of the coach is the basis for the awards in basketball; while in baseball a record of each athlete's innings of participation are kept by the baseball manager.

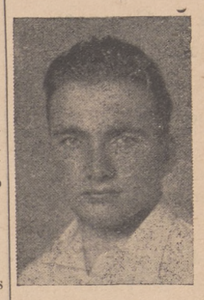
In Formative Stage

Although the plan is only in its formative stages, it was brought up in the Executive Council where no action was taken. But it is believed that this plan will put into the new constitution of the student body, which will come up for voting in the next elections.

Candidates for these positions must be familiar with sports and interested enough to learn how to time accurately. No athlete who competes in a major sport will be allowed to accept these duties for that sport. However, he may be the representative for another of the major sports.

Gaelic Team Plays Sunday

The Eire Oge society's gaelic football team will clash with the Saint James Club this Sunday at Robert's field in San Francisco.



Ted Smyth

The Irish squad boasts of a number of Gaelic varsity gridders in its ranks, among whom are Herb Crampton Smith, Denny Keran, Colie Vaughn, Jack Karl Orth and Tommy O'Laughlin.

This will be the second contest the new organization has played. Brother James, moderator, and Ted Smyth, captain, have been working hard to whip the team into shape. The game is new to many members of the squad, but they proved themselves apt pupils by defeating the Cork Club from San Francisco, 7 to 5, in their first practice game.

The Saint James game was scheduled earlier in the month, but was postponed because of wet weather. This, however, has not dulled the spirit of the squad and Captain Smyth reported that final practice before the game will be held Friday afternoon.

Gaelic football resembles soccer more than any other sport, however, running with the ball is legal although the hands may not be used to pick up the ball. A great deal of body blocking is present, and many of the participating Gael footballers claim it is rougher than the American game.

The line up for Sunday's game is as follows:

Franey, g.	Orth, o.l.
Cavanaugh, b.	O'Laughlin, c.h.
Walsh, b.	Vaughn, r.h.
H. Smith, o.r.	Smyth, l.h.
Crowley, o.r.	Crampton, c.f.

Players Cast for Roles In Production of "The Outsider" at USF

UNIVERSITY OF SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Albert Maggini and Virginia Kelly will play the leading roles in the second spring production of the College Players, "The Outsider," April 26, 27, 28, in the Little theatre.

James J. Gill is the group's director, assisted by student director Harry Sloan.

"Golden Boy," Story of Prize King, Opens at Curran

Built around the almost universal struggle for fame and fortune is the play "Golden Boy," which opens at the Curran Theater in San Francisco next Monday evening. It is not so much the story of a prize-fighter as the picture of a great fight in which we are all involved, whatever our profession or craft.

Clifford Odets, in penning his new theatrical production, has shown that the "Golden Boy" of this allegory is fighting for a place in the world as an individual.

Francis Lederer, in bringing this characterization to San Francisco, is attacking an entirely new role. Heretofore, Lederer has been cast in scenes in which drawing room sequences have played a large part.

Is Poor Boy

In "Golden Boy," Lederer is seen as Joe Bonaparte, son of a vegetable vendor, who loves his violin, but also loves the money he can make in the prize ring. In his eagerness to achieve quick success, fame, fortune and prestige, he forsakes his fiddle for the prize ring, thinking that he is on the way up.

A championship within Joe's grasp, flashy clothes, big cars, the world at his feet . . . success, fame, fortune; Joe has achieved his desire. Driving to a smashing climax that will give you food for thought, Odet's "Golden Boy" has been termed "excellent theater."

In support to Lederer, the distinguished cast in "Golden Boy" includes Louis Calhern, veteran of many Broadway shows, Betty Furness, Ben Welden, Joseph Greenwald, Sammy White, and Phil Tead. Direction is by Stella Adler.

USF Stages First Student Work Day In Hilltop History

UNIVERSITY OF SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Student work day was staged at USF Tuesday when the entire student body united to clean up the campus as their share of the city-wide campaign to beautify San Francisco for the world's fair.

This was the first time that such a project was undertaken at the Hilltop. The system has been used with widespread success in eastern colleges. This idea was proposed by the students, who are backing the program. Six sections of the campus were assigned to various units of the student body, under the direction of John Guinee, chairman. The athletic department furnished the tools and necessary equipment, which were obtained from the Market Street Railway company.

Story of Golden Gate Bridge Told In New Book

The fascinating story of spinning the world's longest suspension span is told by the chief engineer, famed R. K. Strauss, in his new book, "The Golden Gate Bridge," received by the library this week.

Detailed explanation is given in picture and word, on the structure which took three years to complete.

Five other books were received. William Stuckums tells of the duties and qualifications of priests in the book, "The Priesthood." The sixteen encyclicals of Pope Pius XI were received in one volume.

"The Foreign Relations of the United States," published by the State Department is a collection of diplomatic papers of the World War period, in six volumes. "The Pioneer Miner and The Pack Mule Express" by Ernest Wiltses explains the life of the early express companies.

HIGHLIGHTS of SCIENCE

By Boyd Judd

COLORING IN FOOD

Man has peculiar likes, dislikes, and preferences. Nowhere is this fact brought out more forcibly than in his attitude toward food, particularly the color of his food.

For example, most people prefer a red apple, although there are apples of other colors that taste just as good.

New Englanders prefer brown eggs, presumably because most New England hens lay colored eggs. New Yorkers, on the other hand, favor the white-shell eggs for a similar reason. Hence, it is customary for California egg dealers to ship brown eggs to New England and the white ones to New York.

Because of all this seemingly ridiculous discrimination and custom concerning colors of foods, science has stepped into the picture, producing in recent years some interesting facts about food coloring.

Uniformity Desired

One interesting application occurred in the manufacture of vanilla extract a few years ago. A certain manufacturer did not use any coloring matter in his product—with the result that it lacked uniformity of appearance, one of the most persistent reasons for the use of coloring matter in food.

Some of the extract was light-colored, some dark-colored. Consumers, assuming that the darker product was stronger, refused to buy any of the lighter-colored vanilla. Actually, of course, no difference existed between the two types.

But the public had to be pleased. So a small amount of burnt sugar, otherwise known as caramel, was added to the extract. This gave the product a uniform dark color, without destroying in any way the high quality of the extract itself.

Paprika, one of the substances containing the newly discovered vitamin, called vitamin P, is used in frankfurters not only because it is a spice but also because it lends a satisfactory color to the meat.

Color Not Injurious

French peas are sometimes colored by boiling in a solution of copper sulfate. This practice was once condemned by the Massachusetts State Board of Health, but a subsequent investigation proved that the coppoer in the peas was not injurious to health.

Practically all soft drinks are colored, caramel being used in the dark beverages, such as root beer, while a red dye is used in the so-called strawberry and raspberry preparations.

Cake made by bakers is sometimes colored yellow so that the consumer may imagine that it contains more eggs than are actually used.

Bridge Railway Progresses

Saint Mary's will be several minutes closer to San Francisco following the completion of the bridge railway by January of next year. The dotted line in this photograph shows route of the tracks down off the bridge and around into the Terminal building, which will face on Mission street.

Bad Weather Fails To Slow Work On Bridge Railway

Bad weather has not slowed down construction of the electric railway facilities for the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, stated Chief Engineer C. H. Purcell in a report filed yesterday with Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly.

Completion of the bridge railway will bring Saint Mary's several minutes closer to San Francisco as Sacramento Northern trains will operate directly into the transbay city.

Basement and first floor concrete slabs for the 780 ft. terminal building at Mission Street have been completed, it was announced, while the mezzanine floor slab for the center and west units of the structure have also been completed.

Steel Work Progresses

Structural steel work supporting the track level has been erected for crossings near the terminal in San Francisco.

Ties have been laid between several of the bridge towers. Approximately 30,000 bolts will be used on the bridge proper for the ties, in addition to the spikes used to secure the rails to the ties.

In the East Bay yards all work on the substructure has been completed, and work is progressing smoothly on the installation of the ultra-modern signal and interlocking system.

Basketball Sweaters Awarded to Varsity Cagers by ASSMC

Block SM sweaters were awarded nine members of the 1938 basketball varsity yesterday by the varsity committee of the associated students.

Players receiving sweaters were Larry Minahen, Swede Andersen, Warren Jenkins, Julie Lyons, Al Andrade, Kenny Meitz, Norm McPhail, Gene McSweeney, and Tom Feeney.

Manager Dick Hilken will also receive a sweater.

Freshman basketball awards will be announced next week, according to the committee.

Senior Sketches

By William Miller

LYNN HULL is one Gael who has done all of his galloping for the past four years in the unsteady control-booth of the Sacramento Northern.

A World War veteran, Lynn is in his thirties, which makes his case all the more remarkable. He is married, and, we understand, has a daughter of high school age who inherits her father's smiling blue eyes and the cheerful disposition which has made him a favorite among the students.

After he returned from France, Lynn secured a position with the Sacramento

Northern, and ten years later helped to haul the material for the college which the Christian Brothers were building in Moraga, a college from which he will graduate in May, probably with honors. Little did he think then that some day he would be a student in those very buildings which he was instrumental in constructing.

Chosen Train Conductor

But that takes us a little ahead of the story . . . It all started in 1929 when Lynn with 11 years of seniority was chosen to conduct the daily commuters' train, which brings day-students from their homes in San Francisco and Oakland just in time for the 9 o'clock classes in the mornings, and returns them at 3:00 in the afternoon.

For several years Lynn brought the train out in the morning, and swam or loafed for the rest of the day until it was time to return. It hurt him to realize that he might as well consider these intervening six hours as wasted, but having been some 16 years out of high school, he didn't even consider the possibility of ever returning to the life of a student, that is, until he became acquainted with Brother James, present dean-recorder, who was then acting as professor of education.

There was a mutual attraction between the two men, and soon they became the closest of friends.

Becomes Econ Student

It was at Brother James' suggestion that Lynn decided to audit some of the classes, and finally decided to enroll as a freshman in the school of economics and finance. Since that day, almost four years ago, not one of the seven intervening semesters has found his name missing from the list of honor students, a fact remarkable in itself, but rendered even more so when we consider the fact that Lynn had been out of high school over 15 years, and was a married man with a family to support, and little time for school work.

Although he is not certain what he will do after graduation, Lynn has an idea he would like to obtain his master's degree at the University of California.

Alumnus Addresses Senior Class On Newspaper Work

Newspaper work as a profession for a college graduate was the subject of an address by Peter Tehaney of '32, assistant sports editor of the Oakland Post-Enquirer, to the senior class last week.

Mr. Tehaney attended Saint Mary's three years, then transferred to Cumberland University where he received an LL.B. degree. On graduation he returned to join the staff of the Post-Enquirer as a police reporter, continuing on that beat four years until 1936 when he went over to the sports side.

During his career here he was connected with the athletic publicity department as campus correspondent for the Call-Bulletin.

His talk was the third in a series of transition lectures sponsored by the alumni association under direction of Attorney William Lowery. Insurance was the topic discussed by Mr. Richard Blake of San Francisco at today's session.

Mr. MacKenzie will confer with the officers of the local council later in the evening.

Peter Cassady, a junior, was initiated into the order at a first degree initiation held in Oakland.

A local celebration of the founding of the Knights of Columbus 56 years ago will be concluded next Sunday with a group communion and breakfast which will be attended by representatives of all the bay region councils and State officers.

Moraga Students Lose 1170 Pounds For Cramming

New York Survey Shows Saint Mary's Men Lose Weight

Students of Saint Mary's College paid for their cramming in the last examinations with a loss of 1170 pounds in weight, it is estimated by the bureau of educational surveys, New York city.

The bureau arrived at the figure by multiplying an average of two pounds weight loss reported by a representative group by 90 per cent of Saint Mary's College students who engage in intensive study before and during examination periods.

Accordin gto the bureau, professors and textbooks are as much to blame for cramming as the students themselves. Too often the instructor does not provide his class with a sufficiently clear overview of the entire course, or does not review the course in outline form from time to time, with the result that the student becomes hopelessly involved in a mass of facts and ideas, and resorts to cramming as a final, desperate measure.

Instructor to Blame

Sometimes the instructor is to blame for not couching lectures in terms understandable to the average student, and frequently the textbook lacks continuity and organization, or presents the course in too penderous and technical a manner for the average student's comprehension.

This is particularly true of the 52 per cent of all students who, according to Dr. John Black Johnson, retired dean of the University of Minnesota College of Science, Literature and the Arts, can never become "successful students."

Students in this group would never pass at all but for the use of college outlines or other supplementary aids to study.

at any previous time and that appointment of a permanent director will assure a stable athletic program for students.

Offers Appendage

"The administration of minor sports, which is to be written into the revised constitution, will thus be jointly operated by the Board of Athletic Control and the students," Bettencourt stated.

Tom Feeney added that Madigan had offered as an amendment to the constitution, the formation of a student office, the duties of which will be to accompany Varsity teams on all coastal games, keep score, turn in game releases to newspapers, and keep track of the minutes and innings of various team members. As compensation for these duties, a managerial block sweater will be awarded the Athletic office.

Committee Meets

ASSMC Vice President John Reilley set today for a meeting of the committee in charge of revising and rewriting the ASSMC constitution which was described by him as "to technical, ancient, and inelastic." The committee, composed of a member of each class, includes: Jerry Seale, senior; Bill Bettencourt, junior; Tom Feeney, sophomore; and Leo Haggerty, freshman. The revised constitution must first pass the executive council before it is voted upon by the student body, Reilley stated.

Mylott Voted Medal

Upon a motion by Al Quittman, COLLEGIAN editor, a journalism award was voted John Mylott, senior, for work as a reporter on the COLLEGIAN. Joseph McCarthy, reporting on the Passion play, "Ecce Homo," which is to be presented on Monday of Easter week, stated that profits on the play will be divided equally between the student body and the Dramatic Society. Prices charged for admission will be: 25c for high school and college students, and 40c for the general public.

Comment and Opinion

THE ultra-conservative dwelling among ghosts is content to say "dies mali sunt"—"we have fallen upon evil days." The reader of the Pope's encyclicals knows that he has more to do than deplore. "Even more severely" (than revolution), says the Holy Father, "must be condemned the foolhardiness of those who neglect to remove the conditions which exasperate the minds of the people.—J. F. T. Prince, "Creative Revolution."

FOR the past several weeks campus dramatists have been rehearsing nightly for the presentation of the passion play, Ecce Homo, during Holy week. Only enthusiastic interest in dramatics has made it possible for them to continue. The administration has failed to contribute to their support in any manner. Financial difficulties have been almost insurmountable barriers. In spite of the adverse attitude adopted by those who could have lent a helping hand, the interest of the drama group has reached a new high.

Student support of the Saint Mary's players will give this group an opportunity to get on its feet financially. It will give them an opportunity to obtain vehicles adaptable to campus conditions. And it will give them an opportunity to shame the administration into contributing the support that should have been forthcoming from the beginning.

THE sophomore class remains determined to go down in Saint Mary's history as one of the most inactive organizations of all time. Next year the members of the class of '40 will take their places as upper classmen. Perhaps a summer of relaxation and ease will enable them to recover from their strenuous efforts to date, and will allow them to return to school ready to assume the duties and responsibilities of true Saint Mary's men.

K. C. Founders' Week

SIXTY years ago Catholic men were forced to stand idly by and watch their friends join national fraternities and to realize that they had not a single fraternal order they could join under Catholic auspices. It was true that the national units were not closed to Catholics, but it was also true that they did not develop loyalties to the faith.

The week March 27 to April 3 has been designated this year to celebrate Founders Week in honor of Father Michael Joseph McGivney, a young priest who, after four arduous years of research and toil founded the Knights of Columbus in New Haven, Connecticut.

On March 29, 1882, the new fraternity for Catholic men was recognized legally by the Connecticut General Assembly and given the power to conduct such business necessary for the protection of families of deceased members.

Saint Mary's College boasts the only college council of the Knights of Columbus west of the Rockies. For some years it has grown and prospered, fostering Catholic activity on the campus, cooperating with other bay region councils, promoting the retreat movement.

During the past year especially has it entered into these activities stressing things Catholic in connection with the college man. Its membership has more than doubled, and Saint Mary's Council has received nation-wide recognition for its progressive program—a program which has as its incentive force the spirit of Father McGivney.

Through the medium of its Knights of Columbus Council the college of the Moragas has been made known nationally; its influence has been felt regionally. Too much praise cannot be tendered the one campus organization that has not let us down.

Letters to the Editor

THOSE who believe that a large student body is necessary for a successful activity program are referred to the following letter:

OJAI, CALIFORNIA, March 29, 1938.
Editor, The COLLEGIAN.

A thousand thanks to you for your letter of the past week. I was delighted to hear that there is such a thing as a Catholic high school press convention and that Saint Mary's was sponsoring it. Meetings of this type do a tremendous amount of good for moderators and tyro journalists. Needless to say, my entire staff expressed a determined willingness to attend in a body; but that is impossible. Consequently, only a few members of the staff will be with you on the convention date. According to present plans four members of the staff and the moderator will make the journey up to Saint Mary's.

It is our intention to make this trip a reward for the boys and to encourage them to greater efforts. As soon as the news of the trip leaked out nearly everybody in the school wanted to become a reporter on the paper. I am enclosing a copy of our latest edition and when you realize that our student body numbers only twenty students you will see that we have a creditable paper.

Thanking you once again for your kind offer and prompt response, I am,

Yours sincerely,
REV. LUKE J. SWEENEY, O.S.A.

Moraga Musings

WITH ASSMC elections but a short distance away political machines are being overhauled and lubricated so that they may be operated at high speed by the whips of center dorm.

Rumors of a dark horse entering the race for the head man's office have been picked up by the Muser. Guiding light of the unknown's campaign, it is alleged, will be none other than Wyman Goldberg Riley.

Who the electioneering duo of King Englert and Shaggy Orth will support in the coming contest has not been revealed. The Muser recalls that said duo led a machine that just fell short of its mark last year.

Bets of the Week . . .

That through some queer coincidence the Gael will appear on the campus shortly before the elections.

That two candidates for the office of ASSMC prexy will come from the third floor of soph dorm.

Did You Know . . .

That the Berkeley gendarmes are playing a game of tag in which it is against the rules to tag back, and that Ashby avenue is one of their favorite playgrounds.

That a well-known senior day student was decisioned by a six year old in a bitter spit ball war, and that the captain of "Lawlor's Louses" was routed by the mother of the child when one of his moist missiles struck the wrong party.

THINGS THE MUSER WOULD LIKE TO HAVE SEEN: George Dooley nonchalantly humming "TIP-itin, TIP-itin" as he waited on the private (love) feast thrown by Billy Dooms and Herschey-Bar Smyth for a couple of friends Sunday night . . . and getting no results . . . Glenn Todd, the Concord Bargain Hunter, complete with white duck pants and linen cap, putting his heart and soul into a swing on the first tee at the San Jose golf match Saturday—and missing completely. . . .

Leo "Casanova" Englert has transferred his affections from Hollywood to Dominican.

Murphy, of the freshman Murphys, took half an hour to say good night to the girl friend, because he was afraid to bring up the subject of departure.

Outlooks and Insights

EVERY RACE has its ideal hero, the man who in song and tradition and fireside story receives the admiration of his people. Here is a delineation of the hero or leader favored through the centuries by the people of Ireland:

Hero of the Gaels

"First of all," Oliver Saint John Gogarty tells us, "he must be physically great, big-bodied, the full of a door. His personal courage must be outstanding and unquestionable, he must be rosy, generous and chivalrous. He must have some noble, endearing fault which is easily forgiven, extravagance for choice. But, outside battle, he must be gentle and courteous and capable of comradery. Such a one was Goll MacMorna, and Finn and Conn the Hundred Fighter."

To be generous and chivalrous, as well as valiant, is an ideal not exclusively Irish. The ancient Romans esteemed those qualities highly, and later the same virtues were commemorated in the songs of Roland and the Cid in France and Spain. In England Richard the Lion Hearted, who approximated to the Irish ideal of heroicity, has always been held in higher honor than his cunning little sneak of a brother, John.

The Dawn of All?

THE belief may not have been general but it seems reasonably clear that a good many persons in the first century of our era took it for granted that the end of the world was near at hand. The same opinion had appreciable vogue in the Middle Ages. In our own time and in these United States acceptance of the speedy end of all has several times developed into a tragic epidemic and sects have been founded with the nighness of judgment day as a basic tenet.

There are other theories, however, and contrary ones. Of course we know nothing about it, for verily who hath known the mind of the Lord or who has been His counsellor? Yet there is stimulation and expansion in utterances such as this from "The Universe Around Us" by Sir James Jeans.

"We are living at the very beginning of time. We have come into being in the fresh glory of the dawn and a day of almost unthinkable length stretches before us with unimaginable opportunities for accomplishment. Our descendants of far-off ages, looking down this long vista of time from the other end, will see our present age as the misty morning of the world's history; our contemporaries of today will appear as dim heroic figures who fought their way through jungles of ignorance, error and superstition to discover truth, to learn how to harness the forces of nature, and to make a world worthy for mankind to live in.

"We are still too much engulfed in the grayness of the morning mists to be able to imagine, however vaguely, how this world of ours will appear to those who will come after us and see it in the full light of day. But by what light we have, we seem to discern that the main message of astronomy is one of hope to the race and of responsibility to the individual—of responsibility because we are drawing plans and laying foundations for a longer future than we can well imagine."

Not Too Rational

LEARNED gentlemen tell us that the basis of correctness in English is found in the application of ratio, et consuetudo, reason and custom. They are right, of course, provided they put most stress on the dominance of custom. Once in a while somebody brings out a book on English usage poking fun at manifest absurdities of common speech and urging reformation. They insist, for instance, that icecream should be iced-cream. Iced-cream is logical; but usage declines to swallow it.

Then there is the word "preventative" which is rationally condemned because there is no such verb as "preventate" and because the meaning is adequately as well as logically conveyed by the word "preventive." But we have no such verb as "representate" either, and logically therefore should say "representive" instead of "representative." But nobody does; and probably nobody ever will. Custom here triumphs over reason.

Nor should we be downcast thereat and utter pious platitudes about poor human nature. Even a good thing can be carried too far, and reason can be abused through excess. At least so Dante thought when he placed heresiarchs among the incontinent sinners; incontinence here means any kind of lack of control, and the wrong thinkers had failed to control their reason.

The Bystander

By Bill Glackin

WE COULDN'T believe it was Newby. That slight, almost wraith-like figure shuffling along the walk in front of us, looking almost ethereal in the evening dimness, couldn't be happily ponderous boy we knew. Gad, we said to ourself, he must be down to a cool 200!

We broke in two new wrinkles in the washboard we use for a brow before we figured out the reason for this shocking change in one of our bigger freshmen. It was, we finally decided, the new non-scavenging rule which had gone into effect into the dining room a week before. It is all a very sad story, and might possibly be worth telling.

Roy Newby wasn't much different from any other freshman when he enrolled last August, except possibly that he was bigger. It wasn't long, however, before most of the wiser students around school realized that there was talent in the boy. Because Roy Newby was easily the most nonchalant, most adept Floater this campus had even seen.

Nobody could remember anybody in the history of Saint Mary's in Moraga who could match the effortless grace with which he drifted—swooped might be a better word—from table to table, gathering rosebuds—and pitchers of cream—while he might. His familiar line, "Gonna eat that?" delivered with a disarming insouciance, became a byword around the campus.

There were other floaters, but none of them could come anywhere near Newby's technique. He was tops. A born leader, in no time at all he had organized a little corps of followers—men like Al Vediovilli and Walt Wilkman, freshmen like himself—who drifted about the dining room at meal's and following in the tracks of their Leader. Even the great Dog, George Cantwell, a junior and no mean floater himself, played second to the first fiddle of Roy Newby. He was a Power.

Then, early last week, as it must to all men, disaster came to Roy Newby and his little band. Said Brother Patrick: "There will be no more scavenging in this dining room. Under no circumstances will anybody approach another table for food until all the people at that table have left. That's final." (It's a rough quotation, but you get the idea.)

Roy hasn't been the same since. The spark is gone. He has a beaten look about him. But the worst part is the physical reaction—tragical but inevitable. He has lost, as a rough guess, about twenty pounds in the last week and a half. He is a mere shadow of the bouncing boy of 220 or 230 that charmed the hearts of the men of Saint Mary's. It is, as we seem to remember saying before a very Sad Story indeed.

(Note to R. Newby: the fellow who writes this column is named J. Henry Farthingdale, and there's no use looking for him because he just left for Alaska.)

We Wouldn't Know

"Frequent water drinking," says the specialist, "prevents you from becoming stiff in the joints."

"Yes," says the student, "but most of the joints don't serve water."

What's Cooking? . . .

Then there was the cannibal's daughter who had said when dinner was being served, "Give the little girl a great big hand."

Felta Betta . . .

Little Jack Horner sat in a corner
With his crib notes on his knee.
He opened his book
And took a look
And now he wears a Blue Key.

But Not Here

Second Ditto: "You busy?"
First Ditto: "No."
Second Ditto: "Then let's go to class."
